
Senior Executive Moves during the Covid Pandemic

Check out this podcast by experts from leading international employment law alliance Innangard Executives, hosted by Claire Dawson of CC Solicitors, Co-Chair of Innangard Executives.

The pandemic has given rise to opportunities and challenges, prompting some senior executive moves. This discussion takes a look at the trends across the different jurisdictions.

The key questions addressed by the panel include:

1. What has been happening in each jurisdiction when it comes to senior executive moves during COVID? What are the push and pull factors?
2. What is the impact on deferred remuneration on departure? What trends are being seen in negotiations? What sort of deals are being struck on departures and how may this differ from pre-COVID times?
3. Another key issue for departing executives is their post-termination restrictions/non-competes. How are these being handled and has the pandemic made a difference?
4. How are the departures playing out in practice? Are parties more willing to litigate in a difficult market?

The discussion is hosted by Claire Dawson (CC Solicitors, Ireland and Co-Chair of Innangard Executives) with contributions from Merrill April (CM Murray, UK), Carl-Fredrik Hedenstrom (Morris Law, Sweden) and Anna Cozzi (Daverio & Florio, Italy).
